Published four times a year, in November, January, March, and May, by the national society of Eta Sigma Phi. The office of publication is 213 Ellis Hall, Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. All matters relating to publication should be sent to the Editor-in-Chief.

Entered as second-class matter December 16, 1940, at the post office at Athens, Ohio, under the Act of August 24, 1912.

Professor Roy C. Flickinger

When we announced in the March NUNTIUS of last year that Professor Flickinger had been obliged because of illness to resign as chairman of the Board of Trustees we could not know, of course, that the much sadder task of announcing his death would face us this fall.

To his many friends and colleagues of the classical world Professor Flickinger is best known for the versatility of his interests, his scholarly accomplishments in the field of classical publications, and his enthusiastic energy in whatever undertaking enlisted his efforts. But to members of Eta Sigma Phi there comes a peculiar feeling of loss, for to Professor Flickinger Eta Sigma Phi was not simply "just another organization." It was one in which he was vitally interested from the time of its founding until his death. Even during his last illness matters concerning the fraternity engaged his attention, and in spite of sickness he showed no diminution of that driving energy that was so much a part of the man.

Professor Flickinger enjoyed a wide acquaintance among members of Eta Sigma Phi because of his frequent attendance at national conventions, and many students came to know him and realize and appreciate his interest in the organization. Identified with the national organization as he was, Professor Flickinger also served as adviser of Epsilon Chapter at Iowa City. In the early days of the fraternity he sought a method whereby the income might be increased, and the answer was the Eta Sigma Phi Medal. To Professor Flickinger goes the credit for the idea, the design, and the machinery necessary for its sale. That the Medal has continued to serve both to augment the fraternity's income and to increase interest in the study of Latin in the high schools attests to Professor Flickinger's wisdom and foresight in this distinct contribution to the organization.

As a member of the Board of Trustees and serving as its chairman last year, Professor Flickinger was especially active in promoting the National Essay Contest that was inaugurated then and devoted much time and thought to the details of the competition.

Whether as a counselor with timely and thoughtful advice or as a friend with devoted and unflagging zeal for the classics, Professor Flickinger will be sorely missed by all of us.

National Eta Sigma Phi Essay Contest

The attention of Eta Sigma Phi members is called to the national Essay Contest which the organization is sponsoring for the second time this year. Copies of the regulations have gone out to all the colleges and universities, and they are printed here in the interest of the membership at large.

* * *

Eta Sigma Phi, national honorary classical fraternity, is announcing its second contest in a series of three begun last year. There will be first, second, and third prizes of $100, $50, and $25.

The general topic chosen for this year is "The universality of Horace's themes and imagery as shown by the influence of his lyrics upon English literature of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries." The contestant may feel free to choose any portion of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries or any phase of the literature of those centuries, and may adopt a specific title for his essay accordingly. The essays may contain 3000-3500 words but should not exceed the upper limit.

The competition is open to any undergraduate student of a four-year college who is taking or has taken such classical courses as will provide a background of knowledge sufficient for

Membership Cards

Membership cards for the current year are now available and will be supplied as usual, free of cost upon request. Also available are cards for 1940-1941 and 1941-1942 and they will be distributed as long as the supplies last.

treating the subject thoroughly and competently.

All essays are to be submitted not later than March 1, 1943.

Three copies of each essay submitted are to be provided by the contestant. These are to be sent to the Executive Secretary without marks of identification; but with the contestant's name and address enclosed on a separate sheet, and with a statement from the head of the department of classical languages of his college certifying that he is qualified to compete in the contest.

The Executive Secretary will enter upon each essay submitted an identifying number, and will retain the name and address of the sender when transmitting the essays themselves to the judges. The decision of the judges will be based upon content and stylistic qualities. The fraternity reserves the right to withhold the prizes if the essays should be adjudged unworthy.

Contestants who desire that their manuscripts be returned should expressly so request and should provide return postage. The winning essays will become the property of the fraternity, which reserves the right to print one or more of them in the NUNTIUS, official quarterly of Eta Sigma Phi.

News for NUNTIUS

It will greatly facilitate the work of the editorial staff of the NUNTIUS if chapter news, as well as other contributions of prose and verse, reaches the office the tenth of the month in which the magazine appears, i.e., November, January, March, and May. We would suggest that the chapters form the habit of reporting interesting items of activities shortly after their occurrence so that they will be sure of representation in each issue of the magazine.

* Refund of $3.00

The following is an itemized account of the payment for the year 1940-41 made by some chapters during the past fiscal year:

Psi	.....$ 21.00
Omega	..... 33.00
Alpha Kappa	..... 14.00
Alpha Nu	..... 24.00
Alpha Xi	..... 30.00
Beta Delta	..... 10.00

The following chapters have paid no fees for the year: Beta, Psi, Alpha Xi, Alpha Psi, Beta Beta. These chapters may retain their standing in the fraternity if they make payment to the new National Treasurer for the preceding year by December 1.

It is gratifying to note that the receipts from the local chapters have remained approximately the same, in spite of the decreasing college enrollment. An increase of $154.20 in the total receipts of this year over the preceding year has helped to meet the added expense of the Essay Contest. According to agreement, Wright and Street paid $70.00 for advertisement in the NUNTIUS. The jewelry commission is 10 per cent of sales from March 1, 1941, to date. At the request of the University of Chicago Library we sold them old issues of the NUNTIUS.

The expenses of the NUNTIUS were lower this year, but the growing interest in our journal is shown by the increased number of separate subscriptions received. The wise practice of bonding the national treasurer was continued this year. The fraternity pays one half the traveling expenses and hotel accommodations for the undergraduate officers and all the expenses of the Executive Secretary to the National Convention. Because the Convention was held in Williamsburg the expenses were higher this year; however, the success of the Convention more than repaid us. Because of the adoption of a new constitution, it was necessary to have rituals printed at a cost of $85.49.

The following is a brief comparison of the financial statement of 1941-42 with that of 1940-41:

RECEIPTS

Increase in balance brought forward	.....$ 129.78
Decrease in chapter dues	.... 3.00
Total increase in receipts	.... 154.20

EXPENDITURES

Decrease in NUNTIUS expenses	.....$ 59.68
Increase in Convention expenses	..... 41.12
Total increase in expenditures.	193.92

The large increase in expenditures is due to the added expense of the Essay Contest.

I wish to urge the local treasurers to continue to give the new treasurer, Miss Mangiaracina, the splendid support which I have received during this year. She can do nothing unless you are willing to cooperate. You have made my service to Eta Sigma Phi a pleasure, and I take this opportunity to express my appreciation.

During this era of war when the world is mechanically minded, we must work even harder to uphold the ideal of our society—the cause of the classics. After this period of destruction has passed we may facilitate the return to a more enduring peace, for Eta Sigma Phi stands for the treasures of civilization which are everlasting.

Respectfully submitted,
VERONICA PFOTENHAUER
Megas Chrysohylax

HERE AND THERE

Edward Howard Griggs in The Story of an Itinerant Teacher (1934) gives an interesting account of the way he learned Latin. He recommends, from experience, going over the Latin text until it can be thought through in the original. This, he says, requires reading the text over at least six times. One of the most astonishing of his accomplishments was his beginning to read Caesar's Commentaries on Friday noon and passing an examination on the following Monday morning with a mark of 93. All credit for this he gives to his "system."

From Lucretius

(III, 1.892 et seq.)

By A. M. Fine, Omicron

"No longer now awaits your joyous home.
Nor darling wife and dear children run
To snatch your kisses, so to touch your heart
With quieting sweetness. You may never more Flourish in life's great deeds, nor be a rock
To yours. Ah! wretched man, a wretched hour"
They cry, "has taken all the gifts of life."
Yet here they do not add, "No longer
now
Does yearning for those gifts possess a man."
If they discern this and give heed in words
Their minds are free of anguish and distress.
"You, as it were, lulled in the sleep of death
Rest for Eternity from all your cares.
Yet you were turned to ashes on the pyre, and we
Weep unappeased, never to lose our hearts'
Eternal grieving." . . . Wait! for here we ask,
"What so great bitterness, if all returns
To sleep's quiescence, why eternal grief
Of pining soul?" . . . . .

To Horace

By MARTHA E. HESSON, Gamma

Invite me, Horace, to thy hearth
To quaff a warming cup with thee.
(I'll share that friendly Sabine, please—Falernian's far too rich for me!)

Come now! Confide in me, dear friend,
The loves that haunt thy bardic breast.
Come speak of Lydia, fawn-like Chloe,
Lalage, Glycera, and the rest.

Page Six

Then, let us walk the woodland ways
Where fur-eared Faunus tends thy flocks.

Perhaps we'll hear a loud "Euhoe"
From somewhere near those highest rocks.

(Indeed, it is thy right to sing
Of Bacchus and his merry train!
Do not thy verses, like his wine,
Intoxicate the mortal brain?)

Pray, lead my feet to that loved spot
Where bright Bandusia's waters play.
Ah, let me drink its cooling depths
And listen to its lyric lay!

Then, sing to me, "Italian Swan,"
One last sweet song before we part.
(Amphion, with his magic lyre,
Could not more deeply move my heart!)

Two Vengeances

By JAMES R. NAIDEN, Epsilon, '35

Some Tuscan Pirates, scudding on the sea,
Glimpsed a fair stripling on the tumbling
sand,
Bent to their oars and turned their ship
toward land.
They seized and bound him, for they muttered, "He,
(Or kin) will pay us ransom, to be free."
But in the midst of sea, red fragrant wine Filled up their boat; the sails were slashed by vine—
Symbols of Bacchus captured. . . Where could they flee?
Witless those men, to dolphins changed
that day!
No wiser I, who on a summer's night
Lured to my boat a maid, for she could pay
Ransom with kisses. I misjudged her might:
A brutal passion, hope, despair requite
me,
Who kidnapped mortal not, but Aphrodite.

TO VERGIL

By KINCEN W. EXUM, Alpha Phi

Prophet of hell who holds the key
To misty caverns, phantoms dark,
And realms in which no eye can see,
Today, as in the days of Rome,
The laurel wreath is yet your own,
Although the might of Rome is gone
And creeping vine and weed have grown
Where once the mighty men of earth
Together sat and heard your song.
The changeless truth on fadeless scroll
Has stood the test of warful years
And as the countless seasons roll
Your fame has held its place with men.

AMONG THE CHAPTERS

Alpha Psi Broadcast

Washington and Jefferson College

By RALPH B. SNYDER

Alpha Psi is engaged in formulating plans for a radio program to be broadcast over the local Washington Station W.J.P.A. While the date for this broadcast has not been definitely set, it will probably take place in about three weeks. The program will be in the nature of a forum, consisting of five active members of Eta Sigma Phi and one faculty sponsor discussing "The Value of a Liberal Arts Education in Time of War." Those members participating in the program include John G. Hulton, Harry Kingley, J. Victor Murtland, William J. Turner, and Ralph B. Snyder. The program is one of a series being presented by the honoraries of Washington and Jefferson College over W.J.P.A.

As the theme for the regular meetings of Alpha Psi Chapter this year, "Greek Mythology" was chosen. A meeting was held on October 7 at the home of Professor J. Paul Pritchard, faculty sponsor, at which four papers were delivered. J. Victor Murtland read a paper on "An Introduction to Mythology;" William J. Turner, "The Creation According to Greek Mythology;" and Ralph B. Snyder, "The Children of Kronos." The new pledges were present at this meeting.

The next regular meeting was held on November 11 at which time the theme of mythology was continued. At this meeting James Wilson and Warren Martin completed the discussion of "The Greater Gods," while H. N. Wollam and Howard F. Jack read papers on "The Heroes" and "The Lesser Gods," respectively. At this meeting plans were made for an initiation banquet to be held in December.

Zeta Chapter

Denison University

By CHARLOTTE SWAIN

Zeta Chapter will cooperate with the student government's recommendation that campus organization meetings be limited to one a month instead of the usual two to provide more time for studies for the duration. Subsequent meetings will be the second Tuesday of each month.

October meetings included a series of slides of Roman life, customs, buildings, and the like, shown by Professor L. R. Dean, chapter adviser and head of the Department of Classical Languages. The annual Hallowe'en party was designed as Stygian revels where members played Roman games.

Psi Chapter

Vanderbilt University

By ETHEL MARY WILLIAMS

At a banquet held in Alumni Hall Psi Chapter added the following names to its Chapter roll: Ward Allen, Grace Caldwell, Jack Folk, W. J. Harbison, Bill Keys, Gracie Lee, Jack Reed, Ethel Mary Williams.

Initiation at Alpha Delta

Agnes Scott College

By ANASTASIA CARLOS

Members of Alpha Delta Chapter met October 5 in Murphy Candler Building and made plans for the year. Cooperating with other organizations on the campus, the group decided to raise money to buy Red Cross kits for embarking soldiers by selling war stamps during October and by sponsoring a classical quiz between faculty and students in January. The chapter also made plans for a series of talks by the members on subjects pertaining to the literature, life, and ideals of the Greek and Latin worlds. These talks will be given throughout the year.

On November 2 at a special meeting four new members were admitted: Jane Dinsmore, Mary Dozier, Martha Ray Lasseter, and Marion Leathers. After the initiation, Miss Eleanor Hutchens, an active member of Eta Sigma Phi while a student at Agnes Scott and now news editor of the Dekalb New Era, talked on "What Greek and Latin Have Meant To Me."

A tea will be given November 30 by the Chapter. Miss Polly Lyndon, prytanis, will speak informally on the Saturnalian customs of Rome which have come down to us. All classical students and the Agnes Scott faculty have been invited.

Alpha Upsilon Sponsors Contest

College of Wooster

By JEAN STRATTON

Alpha Upsilon Chapter has initiated several new members this fall: Dean Cope, Eleanor Ehrman, Margaret Neely, and Robert Moreland.

Following the usual custom, the Chapter is sponsoring an essay contest in the Wooster High School, open to members of the Cicero classes. The topic chosen for this year is "Daily Life in the Time of Cicero." A medal is awarded at the commencement exercises to the student presenting the winning essay.

Alpha Pi Initiates Ten

Gettysburg College

By BETTY J. HITE

Alpha Pi Chapter held its first meeting of this school year, October 16, in the Latin room. At this time the following ten students were initiated into the fraternity: Marian G. Herr, Marian Nesbitt, Mary L. Wenty, Lyman Hawbaker, Clyde Huber, Ernest Leer, William Marshall, Norberth Stracker, James A. Graefe, and Samuel Frank.

Programs Planned by Beta Alpha

University of South Dakota

By MARIETTA JOHNSEN

At its initial meeting Beta Alpha Chapter chose as its program for the year a study of Greece, its philosophy, government, and social institutions. On October 20, Professor Grace Beede presented an illustrated lecture on ancient Greece and its modern counterparts as an introduction to the year's study. Professor Beede is the sponsor of the Chapter.

On November 3, Professor C. G. Beckwith, head of the Department of History, spoke to the society on the general topic of "Greece, its philosophy, social institutions, and government." Professor Beede entertained the Chapter at this meeting in her home.

At the December meeting Mr. Winton Solberg will speak to the Chapter on "Greek Philosophy." At subsequent meetings plans have been formed for studies of Greek architecture, art, literature, and poets.

Plans are under way too for the Saturnalia celebration in the hope that it will be bigger and better than ever.

After the formal ceremony, an informal initiation was conducted by the active members in which each new initiate was asked some questions concerning the Greek or Latin language and literature. The meeting concluded with refreshments.

Beta Gamma In War Activites

Westhampton College

By ANN CHAMBLISS

Beta Gamma Chapter held its first meeting on October 6, 1942. Members discussed aims and plans for the coming year.

To help with the war effort, the Chapter plans to have a Bond Booth at the first co-ed dance. Defense stamps will be sold both in corsages and separately. Every organization on the campus is all-out for defense, and Beta Gamma plans to do its part.

In June, the Latin Medal was awarded to Kermit Mackenzie at John Marshall High School in Richmond. His 99.6 average was the highest made in Latin in the high schools of Richmond.

Alpha Omicron Chapter

Lawrence College

By JEANNE TYLER

On October 13 the officers of Alpha Omicron Chapter met with the advisers, Miss Wiegand and Professor Weston, in Miss Wiegand's suite at Russell Sage Hall. The officers met to make plans for the coming year. Included in those plans are several talks by faculty members, social meetings, and the traditional Saturnalia.

On November 12 the Chapter held a meeting in the Latin Library and heard a speech by Professor Tomasic, head of the Sociology Department.

Delta Chapter

Franklin College

By VIRGINIA HART

The October social meeting of Delta Chapter was held on Wednesday, October 14, with Miss Virginia Hart as hostess. The members of the ancient history class were invited as guests. At the opening of the meeting Miss Rosalie Montanye gave an excellent review of the book Helen of Troy. Following that, Latin games were played. After refreshments were served, the guests spent the remaining time discussing Latin games and customs.

Beta Zeta

Saint Louis University

By HERBERT J. GEBHART

The Saint Louis University chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, Beta Zeta, which includes the University proper and its senior corporate colleges of Maryville, Fontbonne, and Webster, held its first meeting of the fall term on September 17.

The meeting was devoted to an election of officers for the coming year and to a discussion of possible improvements that could be made in the general tenor of the meetings with special emphasis on the organization of the discussion portion of each meeting.

At the next meeting on October 9, the members discussed the program which has been adopted by the Saint Louis University Classical Club, a student organization with membership restricted to the colleges mentioned above, run in conjunction with Beta Zeta. Since the meetings of Beta Zeta are usually held a week in advance of the meetings of the Classical Club, a portion of each meeting will be set aside to discuss the papers to be presented at the regular sessions of the Classical Club.

Alpha Tau Chapter

The Ohio State University

By FLORENCE KAUFMAN

As a project for the year Alpha Tau is undertaking the "reconstruction of the Classical Library." In this case the reconstruction consists of the purchase and repair of furniture, the making of drapes, etc. The object is to give the room an informal atmosphere.

A formal initiation banquet is planned for early December.

Page Ten

Omega Chapter

College of William and Mary

By IRIS SHELLEY

At their meeting on November 10 members of Omega Chapter enjoyed a lecture on the palace of Minos at Knossos. Illustrations and slides served to increase interest in the site, and at the conclusion of the lecture and discussion relics from Knossos and Mycenae were examined.

Gamma Enjoys Picnic

Ohio University

By CLARA MOHLER

The schedule and the programs for meetings of Gamma Chapter for this year were set up in October. A picnic meeting to which the students and faculty of the classical department were invited was held at the W.A.A. Cabin later in the same month. Those present enjoyed games, refreshments, and singing around the open fireplace.

The theme of the November meeting was a comparison of classical myths and legends with some more recent plays and short stories. Miss Mary Stanhagen told a very lively story, "Plant Early Two Feet Apart" which she had found in the Atlantic Monthly. Miss Jo Ann Naugle compared the story of "The Wooden Image," as told by Hawthorne, to the story of Pygmalion and Galatea. Miss Clara Mohler showed the similarities between the story of Pyramus and Thisbe and Shakespeare's play "Romeo and Juliet." The playing of a mythological baseball game was followed by refreshments.

TAX ON JEWELRY

This is to call your attention again to the fact that beginning with October 1, 1941, a federal tax of 10 per cent was added to all jewelry sold. This should be taken into consideration when orders are sent to the fraternity jewelers, Wright and Street.
